

UNIVERSITY TEACHING BUILDING MASTERPLAN & CONCEPT DESIGN Melbourne School of Theology

Melbourne School of Theology (MST) acquired an office and distribution warehouse building, using it for tertiary teaching facilities since 2011. Expanding to accommodate other educational institutions in 2016, MST appointed Studio B to prepare a staged master plan for the future development of this university facility.

Design features include:

- The master plan anticipates 4 development stages commencing with enlargement of the present chapel and new staircase - now complete.
- The 2nd stage will include a new extension to provide a student centre and public café.
- The 3rd stage will relocate the main entrance and upgrade the current interior.
- The 4th stage will include a new auditorium, specialist teaching facilities and additional offices.
- Potential complimentary enabling development on the site.
